

The Collins Group is Proud to Announce...

more than $1 billion across the Northwest has been raised by nonprofits with which we've had the honor of partnering on their capital and endowment campaigns. The generosity of and achievements in our nonprofit community is truly amazing.

"We are very proud to be associated with some of the most passionate and visionary organizations and some of the largest and most meaningful campaigns across the Northwest," says Aggie Sweeney, CEO of The Collins Group.

Many of these campaigns were considered "breakthrough" campaigns by their communities - campaigns that were not initially seen as having the support or financial capacity to succeed. Their fundraising success had a snowball effect on the community, effectively sowing the seeds of philanthropy across the region.

"Our clients have raised the philanthropic bar." adds President Martha Richards. "Look at the community landscape and see the many tangible examples of the positive impact private dollars have had on our lives."

Congratulations to those who have been a part of achieving this incredible benchmark and thank you to everyone who works for the betterment of our world. We wish continued fundraising success to you all!
